

The Corps' map of the property that identifies all of the features that the Corps' considers streams and wetlands.

This image of the property marks the "jurisdictional" streams as they were identified in the Corps' maps.

Ground level view of the WOTUS.

Gully running through the center of the field that was found to be WOTUS (left) and another of the jurisdictional WOTUS on the property.

